

Tube Occluders

High quality hemostat, line, or tube occluding clamps are available from RPC. Tube occluders are used to constrict or occlude the lumen of a flexible tube. Total occluding can be prevented by engaging a stop which can be disengaged to release or for additional restricting. Jaws remain aligned when tubing is occluded and released. Smooth jaws won't damage tubing. Occluders are composed of lightweight, durable nylon. Aluminum rivets won't rust with cleaning or disinfection. Clamps can be cleaned using warm water and detergent, and disinfected using diluted bleach solutions.

Fistula Clamps

After the completion of a dialysis treatment gauze and applied pressure are often required to stop the bleeding from the injection site. Fistula Clamps from RPC provide consistent pressure without pinching the patients arm. RPC's fistula clamps are reliable, comfortable, and light weight. In addition to the standard white color, RPC fistula clamps are available in blue, green, red, and yellow. For superior comfort and support, the ultra grip cover is also available to prevent slide off issues that occur with the use of gauze.
