Letter to File: Test Strip Expiration and Open Bottle Statement

Unless otherwise indicated in the Instructions for Use (IFUs) that accompany specific test strip, all RPC test strips may be used up to the expiration date indicated on the container or foil wrapper as long as all Instructions for Use are followed and storage requirements are met. The expiration date refers to the last day of the month printed on the container or foil wrapper. In regards to the bottled test strips, this memo is applicable to both opened and unopened bottles.
